STATISTICS.—The New York News extracts from the last volume of the census for 1860, just issued from the Government printing press tables, some facts illustrating the comparative amount of pauperism and crime in the Northern and Southern States, as well as of each of the States composing the respective sections, for the year ending June 30th, 1860. Not having room for the tables, we aggregate results as follows:

The nineteen Northern States of California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin, contained a population of 18,917,753. Whole number of paupers supported within the year—native, 140,238; foreign, 156,241. Whole number of criminals convicted within the year—native, 29,089; foreign, 62,250.

The fifteen Southern States of Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, contained a population of 12,240,593. Whole number of paupers supported within the year—native, 18,518; foreign, 4,546.

Whole number of criminals convicted within the year—native, 6,677; foreign, 3,477. This exhibit for the South, with all "the barbarism of slavery," is something to be viewed with complacency, if not pride.

THE AUTHOR OF "JOHN HULFAX, GENT."—The recent publication of an edition of Miss Mulock's poems will render the following scrap of her personal history interesting to those into whose hands her poems may come. It is an extract from a private letter:

"Mrs. R.—knows Miss Mulock intimately. It is quite true that the good-hearted authoress married a true man, one younger than herself. His name is Craik; he is the son of the leading minister of the Scotch kirk in Glasgow. The letter and Miss Mulock have been intimate friends for years, but he has not become reconciled to her marriage with his son, for she is forty and he but twenty-five. It appears that some time ago young Craik got his leg broken on the railway to London. After the accident, a letter was found in his pocket addressed to Miss Mulock (a letter of introduction from his father), and he was carried to her house and tenderly cared for by her. A great friendship sprang up between them, but for a long time it was more like that existing between an elder sister and young brother than any deeper sentiment. He at length went home, but soon returned, proposed and was accepted. Mr. Craik was what is called an accountant, but he has just become the manager in the London branch of Macmillan's great publishing house. Miss Mulock is very tall and is rather gaunt, but has a peculiar gentle look. She is very quiet and unpretending, and hates to be treated as an authoress."

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.—The Senate, yesterday, passed the bill creating the office of Surveyor General of Idaho, and the bill authorizing the Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and the Cleveland and Toledo Railroad Companies to construct a swing bridge over the government dam across the Cayahoga river. A motion to amend the House bill to establish a ship canal around the Falls of Niagara was voted down—yeas 17, nays 19. The House bill to continue the Freedmen's Bureau was then taken up. An amendment was adopted so as to allow the lands held by General Sherman's estate to be given up on the first of January next. The bill was then passed.

The House passed a large number of bills, among them the following: appropriating $25,000 to hire a building for the temporary accommodation of the Department of State; for the payment of certain Ohio and Iowa regiments; to provide for the admission of certain persons to the United States hospital for the insane; to explain the act authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue American registers to vessels in certain cases; relating to pilots and pilot regulations, and authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to sell at auction or otherwise the eight hundred shares of the stock held by the government in the Miscal Canal Company.

HOOPS AND GARTERS.—Garters with diamond buckles are worn with the new hoops of "Paris."—Exchange.

The new hoops are quite prevalent in this city, but we observe no buckles. Most of the garters are of red tape, and tied above the knee.—Memphis Bulletin.
